

Call for Papers

Asian Law & Economics Association (AsLEA) 12th Annual Conference June 24–25, 2016, Seoul, Korea

The 12th Annual AsLEA Conference will be held on June 24 and 25, 2016, in Seoul, Korea, at Seoul National University School of Law. Korean Law and Economics Association will host this Conference.

Those interested in presenting papers are invited to submit their drafts along with a short abstract by February 15, 2016. We welcome submissions on topics in any areas of Law and Economics, although we encourage submissions dealing with questions that originate from Asia or are relevant to Asia today. Submissions on traditional areas of Law and Economics as well as on new topics are welcome, and we will consider both theoretical and empirical research.

At the Conference, active and lively discussions are expected among paper presenters and other participants. There will also be intriguing keynote speeches by renowned scholars as well as workshops for empirical/econometric methodologies and for psychological/experimental methodologies.

Topics

We will consider any topics in or related to Law and Economics, including but not limited to the following:

Antitrust and Competition – Bankruptcy – Behavioral Law and Economics – Law and Economics of Big Data – Corporate Law and Corporate Governance – Contract Theory and Contract Law – Crimes and Criminal Law – Environmental Law and Economics – Family Law – Finance, Securities, and Capital Market Regulation – Health and Medical Law – Innovation – Intellectual Property – International Law and International Trade – Labor and Employment Law – Law and Development – Litigation, Dispute Resolution, and Legal Procedure – Mergers and Acquisitions – Political Economy and Public Choice – Privacy and Data Protection – Property Rights and Property Law – Public and Administrative Law – Regulation – Rule of Law and Legal Institutions – Social Welfare and Welfare Policy – Taxation – Tort Law

Considering Asia's unique position in the technology arena, we especially welcome submissions dealing with technology-related issues.

The following professors graciously agreed to deliver keynote speeches:

- Professor Omri Ben-Shahar, University of Chicago, Law School
- Professor Yeon-Koo Che, Columbia University, Department of Economics
- Prof. Dr. Stefan Voigt, University of Hamburg, Faculty of Law and Institute of Law & Economics

Important Dates

- Submission deadline for abstracts and/or draft papers: February 15, 2016
- Notification of acceptance: April 15, 2016
- Submission of papers (for web posting and circulation at the conference): May 25, 2016

Guideline for Contributors

- An abstract without a draft paper may be considered (although priority will be given to submissions with a draft paper).
- Include on the first page of your submission the following information: paper title, authors' names and affiliations, and contact information including e-mail address for the corresponding author.
- If you are interested in publishing your conference paper in the Asian Journal of Law and Economics, please indicate your interest when you make your initial submission. The Asian Journal of Law and Economics is considering issuing a special issue from the conference proceedings and will welcome submissions.
- Submitted abstracts and/or draft papers will be posted on the Conference website and will be circulated on site. If you do not wish your abstracts and/or papers to be posted or circulated, please indicate this when you make your initial submission.
- Submissions should be sent, in PDF or MS Word format, to the following e-mail address: aslea2016@gmail.com.

General Administration and Logistics

- There are no submission fees or registration fees for the Conference.
- There may be a modest amount of subsidies available to participants from developing countries. If you require subsidies, please make a request when submitting your initial abstract and/or paper.
- Conference materials will be provided free of charge for the registered participants. Lunches will also be provided.
- Conference participants can stay at Seoul National University Faculty House at a reduced rate. Information on lodging and other logistic issues will be sent out separately after acceptance decisions are made.
